Included in the Final Price: The Government of Belize and the Belize Airport Authority require that all Belizean airlines collect a $6.00 rider fee on all ticket segments. The rider fee will be charged on every ticket issued regardless of any discount. Example: BZE – SPR, $6.00; BZE – SPR – BZE, $12.00; BZE – SPR – TZA – PLI $18.00.

Tech Help: Should you get an error while trying to book (tech gremlins happen occasionally) please try any or all of the following: refresh your browser window a few times, try a new browser if you have one, or reboot your computer.

Tropic Air Guidelines: Allow an hour upon landing at the international airport to clear customs, before checking in for your Tropic Air flight. For the return flight, Tropic Air recommends that you schedule your domestic transfer to arrive at Philip S.W. Goldson International Airport at least three hours ahead of any international flight. All international airlines now have a one-hour cut-off window for check-in, which is strictly enforced. On weekends it can get congested at PGIA, especially at the departure passport control (where you receive an exit stamp).

Customer Service: Should you arrive at your Belize destination before your luggage, Tropic Air will do everything they can to find lost or delayed baggage. A good example of that is the San Pedro Serendipity story on AmbergrisCaye.com Belize message board. A bag filled with credit cards, favorite beach clothes and $1600USD was returned to San Pedro Airport from its unknown travels. For more, see the Tropic Air Reviews with traveler flight photos on TripAdvisor Belize.

taco Tip: If you find yourself with a bit of time on your hands at the airport, you can park yourself near Jet's Bar; a great place for people watching or to enjoy a pre-flight cocktail. You can read about Jet's antics in my Flight from Mexico to Belize post. If you are looking for a snack, Le Petit Cafe makes great Johnny cakes, (aka journey cake) a small biscuit easily carried on a long trip.
